INDICTMENTS COME THICK

Whole Flock of Them Turned Loose Against Sam Jones and Associates.

PISTOL TOTERS SURPRISED

Grand Jury Adjourns Till January—Finds Jail Clean.
Says $3 for Jurors.

The Hamilton county grand jury, reporting this morning, returned a whole flock of indictments against Sam Jones, O. W. South and W. H. McWhorter in connection with the recent wholesale thefts of liquor in transit over the Southern railroad, and it was stated by Atty.-Gen. Chandler that an early issue would be set for hearing the cases.

It was generally expected that the report of the grand jury would be of a sensational nature, and it looks like that when the cases come to trial the most stupendous liquor dispensing scheme ever attempted will be thoroughly aired. It is stated that due to important witnesses turning state's evidence, it will be shown that thousands of dollars' worth of liquor, an amount in excess of the approximate $3,000 worth alleged to have been disposed of here, was taken from trains down in Georgia and there buried.

Among other startling things found out was that over $700 worth of the liquor had been stored for a considerable length of time within a block and a half of the courthouse.

Railroad investigation to follow.

The next development in the case will in all probability be a report from a railroad investigation which is now reported to be in progress. It is considered unlikely by railroad officials that such a scheme of obtaining liquor in transit could have been carried out without the knowledge and co-operation of other employees than the two now under indictment. It will be remembered that the scheme alleged to have been employed was substantially as follows: A car of liquor in transit from a wet state in the north to one of the few remaining wet states in the south would be stopped at a way station, the seals broken, the liquor sold, and brought to Chattanooga. Sam Jones, former steward of the Beavers club, being charged with doing the transporting from the car, and the operating department, with arranging the railroad end of it.

Railroad authorities here hold that such procedure would naturally be followed by other employees, being of too ponderous a nature to be easily concealed.

Liquor Belongs to McAdoo.
But the most unexpected part of the whole business is that the indictments state that the liquor that was the property of W. G. McAdoo, director-general of the United States railroad administration. This, of course, is purely technical, but under the act taking over the railroads of the country, there was no other way to draw the indictment, the director-general holding all property in transit somewhat in the character of a trustee.

Pistol Shooters Get Theirs.
Probably some of the most surprised people in the world will be a number who have been indicted by the grand jury for carrying pistols on the day the armistice was celebrated. It will be remembered that on that morning pistols were as thick as flies, and also there was some liquor in evidence. The liquor sellers also got theirs when this morning's indictments were returned.

Over 150 indictments were returned altogether, there being an especially large number of liquor returns. Henry A. Cook, the barber who stabbed Thomas Vann, boiler-maker, was indicted for murder.

It is expected also that the cases against Jones, South and McWhorter will be investigated by the grand jury when it convenes.

stated that it has visited the jail and found it in a clean and sanitary condition, and Sheriff Bass was complimented upon it. The porchhouse, it was stated, was also found to be clean, but the workhouse was reported as being very dirty and in need of repair.

Col. Carey H. Brown, commander of Camp Forrest, and his bride are expected to arrive on the eastern train this evening in time for the event.

Among those who have been invited to attend are: Miss McMann, Mrs. Chopin, Miss White, Mrs. Roberts, Miss Gentry, Mrs. Jackson, Mrs. L. M. Jones, Mrs. W. H. West, Miss Margaret Hunt, Mrs. F. H. Lieut. Johnson returned to the front and engaged in several severe battles. This gallant young officer saw and suffered the horrors of the trenches, marching through the agonies of wading the mud roads of France and facing all the dangers of battle, finally making the supreme sacrifice for the love of country and that freedom for his fellow man might be accomplished.

He was a fine type of young manhood, being of a modest and retiring nature and a splendid young gentleman whose ability and lovable character in civil pursuits would have won for him the best of the American standard. His younger brother, Sam, is now in the training camp at Atlanta and will be eligible for a commission also.

Lieut. Johnson was the eldest son of Mrs. Gorda Johnson, who has the sincere sympathy of the community in her bereavement.

GOLF TOURNEY SATURDAY
Play for Cup and Prizes on Riverview

The second tournament in as many weeks will be held on the links of the Chattanooga Golf and Country club Saturday afternoon. It is the qualifying round which will be contested tomorrow, the tournament being match play. Players will use their regular handicaps.

A handsome cup has been offered for the winner of the match play and there will also be two prizes each for the low net and gross scores in the qualifying round. The match play will be finished in the next two or three weeks.

This will be the last tournament not held for charity which the club has staged in many a month. Members have been tightening up on their golf bags during the many patriotic drives of the last year and have also given freely of their time, relieving the ground. It is already beginning to liven up, however, especially as the members who have been enlisted in the army arrive home.

Warren Dewees is home from an officers' training camp and will stand a good chance of winning the low gross score prize. D. S. Henderson is slowly getting back in shape after a serious operation, but is not yet back at his old game. The Foch victory medal, played for at a tournament two weeks ago, was won by S. S. Price, it being a handicap event.

NO OFFICIAL ORDERS
Two Hundred or More Medical Officers Apply for Discharges.

As yet no general order has been received at Camp Greenleaf regarding demobilization. However, the general orders issued from the war department relative to discharges and officers over 50 years of age is taking quite a number from the medical camp. Something like 200 officers have already made applications for discharges from this camp. In addition to this, from 200 to 300 enlisted men have filed their applications for honorable discharges coming under the order of dependency and those needed in essential businesses at once.

In addition to the discharges at Camp Greenleaf, a number of men throughout the other camps at the park are asking for discharges. Thursday nine officers from the Eleventh cavalry and five enlisted men made application for release.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL
Captains and Canvasers Arrange Final Details.

An enthusiastic gathering of the captains and canvasers teams for the Red Cross Christmas rollcall drive was held last night in the auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce building. Final instructions regarding the canvassing work were given the committees by Frank Nelson, director of the roll call for Hamilton county. Private Mason, a discharged Canadian soldier from the 27th-fourth battalion, who is in the city in the interest of the campaign, was present and gave a vivid description of how it feels to be in the trenches and hear the word to go "over the top" and how it feels to be wounded. In conclusion, he told something of what the Red Cross meant to the wounded soldier. T. S. McCallie was also present and made a short address upon the after-the-war work of the Red Cross organization.

LETTER FROM OVER THERE
Lester Dodd Writes Interestingly to His Sister.

Mrs. Lizzie Dodd, of this city, has received some interesting letters from her son, Private Lester Dodd, who is "over there" doing his bit for the cause of world democracy. In a recent letter to his mother, Private Dodd said, "No Man's Land" was a sight to look upon, as the Hun had fired at us if they never intended to leave it. We got them out and they are on the run," he wrote. "They left everything in our hands."

Private Dodd said in a letter to his sister, Miss Willamette Dodd, that he was not willing to return to the United States until the allies were victorious. "We will not come back any other way," he added. "The Kaiser is going to get all that is coming to him."

GAVE THEIR LIVES FOR THEIR COUNTRY

LIEUT. JAMES JOHNSON
FALLS IN ACTION.

Casualty List Includes Names
Number of Chattanooga Boys.

The sad intelligence of the death in action of Lieut. James Johnson, of Lookout mountain, has just been received, although details as yet are lacking. He was an early volunteer, graduating in the first training camp at Fort Oglethorpe and receiving a commission as second lieutenant. He was assigned to Camp Greene at Charlotte, N. C., and early in March sailed for France with the Thirty-eighth regular infantry, part of the Third division.

He was a participant in the battle of the Marne, was severely gassed in July and spent some time in a hospital. He was confined at the same time and place with Lieut. Hugh Thompson, son of ex-Mayor T. C. Thompson.

Lieut. Johnson returned to the front and engaged in several severe battles. This gallant young officer saw and suffered the horrors of the trenches, marching through the agonies of wading the mud roads of France and facing all the dangers of battle, finally making the supreme sacrifice for the love of country and that freedom for his fellow man might be accomplished.

He was a fine type of young manhood, being of a modest and retiring nature and a splendid young gentleman whose ability and lovable character in civil pursuits would have won for him the best of the American standard. His younger brother, Sam, is now in the training camp at Atlanta and will be eligible for a commission also.

Lieut. Johnson was the eldest son of Mrs. Gorda Johnson, who has the sincere sympathy of the community in her bereavement.

Supreme Sacrifice.
In Friday's casualty list appear the names of Private Fair B. Warr, of Rossville, who was killed in action, and Private Phillips M. Barry, of Chattanooga, who died from wounds.

With that loyalty and devotion to service which characterizes the true soldier, these young men offered their lives to the great cause of world democracy.

Lieut. Perkins Lives.
Mrs. Beulah Perkins, of this city, has received several letters from her husband, Lieut. Perkins, who was recently officially reported as having made the supreme sacrifice. One of the messages bore the date of Nov. 11. He was reported to have been wounded on Nov. 6 and died on the following day.

Chris Acklin.
The many Chattanooga friends of Christopher Cottrell Acklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Acklin, former residents of this city, but now residing in Knoxville, will learn with deepest regret of his death "over there." Chris, as the young man was familiarly known, died of pneumonia, according to a letter received by his parents from Commandant S. Newton, of the Hartley college auxiliary home hospital, Manchester, England, where Acklin passed away. For some time Chris was connected with The News. He was formerly with the Knoxville Sentinel and at the time he entered the service he was employed by the Knoxville Electric company. In his letter to the parents of the young man Commandant Newton said Chris was transferred to the hospital from a troop ship which had some cases of influenza on board. He developed such a severe case of pneumonia that he lived only a few days after being received at the hospital. Commandant Newton explained that everything possible was done for him, but without avail; that he was buried with full military honors in a sunny part of a cemetery amongst his comrades. The service was read by an American army chaplain.

The commandant said that all in the hospital wished him to express their deepest sympathy with Mr. and Mrs. Acklin in their great trouble. "May I close," he added, "by saying that I did what I thought his mother would have done for him, by seeing his personal effects packed and sent off, and by attending, with some of the staff, his funeral on your behalf. Please accept my very sincere sympathy for your sad loss."

Mrs. A. C. Cottrell, widow of the late Capt. A. C. Cottrell, is the deceased's grandmother.

WILL OPEN BRANCH
Atlanta Men Come Here to Conduct Business.

The branch office of the local office of the department of labor will be opened Saturday, Dec. 7, at Camp Forrest, under the charge of Andrew Melroy. Mr. Melroy has been connected with the office at Atlanta for several months, and the branch office at the army post will be operated by the office at Atlanta and this city. A full list of positions open will be kept at the branch office and will be revised each day. Discharged soldiers will have a chance of seeing if they can secure employment in this way will be sent direct to the place of employment. The branch office will be located in the office of Capt. E. T. Boylan.

RED CROSS ROOMS
Work Rooms Will Close Monday for Christmas Holidays.

The Red Cross work rooms will be closed Monday for the Christmas holidays, and will not open until Jan. 1. However, some one will be at the rooms every day from 10 to 3 to receive the limited goods brought in for completion, also garments that are made out of the work rooms.

Dr. T. S. McCallie will go to Atlanta Monday to confer with division headquarters in regard to Christmas celebration for the soldiers when they come home.

Just what plans will be decided upon is not known. The civilian relief department of the Red Cross in the Southern Express building will be kept open every day during the holidays, as the force is quite busy there all of the time assisting the dependents of soldiers in correspondence and investigation, as well as giving material aid wherever it is needed.

IRRITABLE WIFE BREAKS QUIET PEACE OF HOME

CRACKED HER SPOUSE ON THE HEAD.

Colored Dame Interrupted by Police—Calf Hadn't Been Legally Killed.

The tranquility of the John Guess, colored, household has been once more broken, and Martha, the irritable wife of the meek and lowly John Guess, was placed under arrest this morning by Detectives Paridiso and Gillespie charged with felonious assault. According to John's statement, in violation of his solemn promise to Judge Martin Fleming that he would not so much as enter his wife's path, knocked for admittance at the ill-fated portal. The gentle Mrs. Guess opened the door only long enough to crack her spouse over the head with a club, felling him to the floor. Then, John alleges, she got out her pistol and fired several shots at his fleeing feet with no effect other than to accelerate their piddle-like motion. John resents such action on the part of the woman who promised faithfully to love, honor and obey him. Hence the arrest. When the last couple appeared before the judge in police court about a week ago for the "seventh time" in a few weeks, they came very near taking a trip to the workhouse. There is but little doubt as to the outcome of tomorrow's trial.

CHARTER APPLIED FOR
Mudge Automobile Supply Company to Open for Business.

Articles of incorporation were filed in the county court Friday morning by E. L. Mudge, B. S. Mudge, Ralph D. Stone, V. C. Piner and John A. McGill, petitioning a charter for the Mudge Automobile Supply company. The petition called for a capital of $10,000. The new organization will be under the management of E. L. Mudge, the principal stockholder. The new company has been successful in securing what is regarded as the best stand in the city, the old Lytle place on the corner of Broad and West Eighth streets, which was vacated a short time ago by the supply house. Chattanooga's new necessary station is to be opened shortly after the first of the year.

Mr. Mudge stated this morning that it was his plan to operate a strictly up-to-date business, handling only standard first-grade tires, parts and miscellaneous accessories for motorists. The manager is delighted over the prospects, his central location, and with the complete use of goods is promising to keep on stock predicts a good business from the first.

Since the formation of the local Morris Plan bank Mr. Mudge has been the secretary and treasurer. His resignation as an officer of the organization
